Report on “Connect with Work” 6th September 2022

The “Connect with Work” programme, organized by Barclays Bank and the Career Counselling sub-committee, under the supervision of IQAC, was a training initiative aimed at enhancing employability skills among participants. The programme took place over three days in September 2022 and included various activities designed to prepare individuals for the workplace. The session on September 6, with 31 participants, focused on the initial aspects of workplace integration and skill development. The next day focused on deeper engagement with the students and alumni, providing them with practical knowledge and insights into the working environment. Despite a smaller group of 19 participants, the session was productive and interactive, allowing for more personalized guidance and support from the trainers. September 12, the final day of the programme, had 16 participants and focused on refining the skills acquired, besides preparing the participants for the next steps in their career journey. The placement drive was quite successful with 12 students being shortlisted for further opportunities, and one student was placed on hold.
