Participation of Geography Hons. Students in the Model Exhibition on Wetland Conservation

Organized by The West Bengal Pollution Control Board

The West Bengal Pollution Control Board organized a closing ceremony for campaign on Wetlands Conservation for students of different schools and colleges on 25th January, 2024 at Nalban Food Park, Salt lake, Kolkata.

Eminent speakers highlighted the critical role of wetlands play in enhancing our lives by providing flood protection, clean water, biodiversity, and recreational opportunities essential for human health and prosperity.

Emphasis was given to narrate the importance of East Kolkata Wetland, which is the world's largest wastewater fed aqua culture system.

Sewerage that is sent to the wetlands are subjected to solar purification followed by natural oxidation by which the water become conducive for algal and plankton growth which are the primary feed of fishes.

The goods and services provided by the East Kolkata Wetland include, in addition to fisheries, a very cheap, efficient and eco-friendly system of solid waste and sewer treatment system for the city of Kolkata, habitat for waterfowl and home for a large number of flora and fauna.

Nearly 8 colleges and 10 schools participated in this programme focussing on the wetland conservation.

Nine students from Semester III Geography Hons. along the faculty member of the Department of Geography , Smt. Suardhuni Ghosh, participated in this programme.

Students of our college prepared a model based on wetland conservation avoiding the single use plastics and the thermocols.
